

MCELROY BIOGRAPHY

Deborah Costolo McElroy is Vice President of the Regional Airline Association, a Washington, D.C. based trade association which represents the interests of the nation's short-haul scheduled airlines and their supplier companies. In her position, she develops and implements association policy on a wide variety of regulatory issues. She also conducts Capitol Hill lobbying for the association and acts as RAA spokesman with the aviation and general press, related government agencies and aviation organizations. McElroy is responsible for publication of the industry's award-winning Annual Report of the Regional Airline Association, as well as for conducting RAA's annual security, customer service, human resources, public relations, and tax and finance seminars.

Ms. McElroy serves on the FAA's Aviation Security Advisory Committee as well as several Aviation Rulemaking Advisory Committee working groups. She also is a member of the Transportation Research Board's Regional Aviation Subcommittee.

Prior to joining RAA in 1987, she was employed by the U.S. International Trade Commission as their senior aerospace industry analyst and the U.S. Department of Labor as an international economist. A graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in economics, Ms. McElroy has accumulated more than 17 years of experience in aviation trade and regulatory issues.